Spotlight on... Angie Moshammer

Story by Rachel Clark, 409th Contracting Support Brigade

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany -

Angie Moshammer has been with Army Europe Contracting since 1978. She began as a translator, working her way up and is now a Procurement Analyst with the 409th Contracting Support Brigade based in Kaiserslautern, Germany.

In her current job, Moshammer acts as the business advisor on acquisition matters to Army Europe elements with emphasis on use of acquisition related enterprise business systems. (FAR 4)

She provides guidance to internal and external customers on systems from a functional/operational/regulatory aspect on Standard Procurement System, Electronic Data Access, PRweb, Central Contractor Registration, Wide Area Work Flow, Contractor Performance and Assessment System, Army Single Face to Industry, Federal Procurement Data System, Next Generation.

When asked how her job supports Soldiers, Moshammer comments, "I provide help for 51C's, support the changing crews at JCC Kosovo, and hopefully broaden the understanding for P2P (Procure to Pay) and the necessity for data integrity."

She is Level III certified and was often assigned to special projects including various base maintenance contracts, conversion of cost contracts into Firm Fixed Price hybrid type, team leader simplified acquisition, functional system administration.

She is currently focused on Europe General Funds Enterprise Business System (GFEBS) - Standard Procurement System fielding, and is in continuous coordination with Enterprise Business Systems Division at Secretary Army, Army Business Center for Acquisition Systems, team GFEBS, Defense Finance and Accounting Service and Financial Management Command on the Europe specific issues.

Moshammer, a German national, has lived in Heidelberg, Germany for the last 35 years. When asked about what she does in her spare time, Moshammer replied, "What is spare time? There is none if you deal with GFEBS in Europe, should there be time again, read, travel, and party."
